

CT Clean Energy Policy Principles FAQ CT ENERGY FUTURE

What are the CT Clean Energy Policy Principles?

The 10 Clean Energy Policy Principles are designed to guide an economy-wide transition to clean energy and a net-zero electricity supply in Connecticut by 2040. They have been written to address and integrate business interests in addition to climate and energy goals.

How were the Clean Energy Policy Principles created?

Business leaders from more than 40 companies who believe scaling clean energy in Connecticut is good for business met over the course of a year to draft the clean energy policy principles. This effort was led by CT Energy Future.

What is CT Energy Future?

CT Energy Future is an assembly of interested businesses and partner organizations, the Connecticut Sustainable Business Council, the Nature Conservancy, and the CT Green Bank working together to create a unified business voice for clean energy policy.

Who is eligible to sign on in support of the Clean Energy Policy Principles?

For-profit companies, social enterprises, B-Corporations, hospitals, and universities are eligible.

How do I sign on?

How will people know that my company has signed on in support?

Your logo will appear on the CT Energy Future website and be visible on materials that reference the policy principle signatories. We will not mention specific companies or speak on your behalf to the media without prior, written consent.

What does it mean to sign on in support?

By signing on in support, Connecticut businesses will demonstrate to policymakers that scaling affordable and reliable clean energy can be both good for and supported by the business community.

How will the Policy Principles be used in the future?

They will be leveraged with policymakers to advance affordable and reliable clean energy in the state.

What are the next steps for using the Policy Principles in developing clean energy policy in CT?

To share and discuss the policy principles with legislative and other policy leaders interested in hearing the voice of the business community and to consider possible policy actions that would help fulfill the principles.

Do these principles support any specific legislation?

No. The principles are designed as broad statements of support for why clean energy is important to the business community and what needs to happen at scale for businesses to be able to integrate clean energy into their business.

Will I know how the initiative is progressing?

Yes. We will circulate periodic updates to all signatories.

How can I stay involved?

We have live and virtual events and meetings planned throughout the year. You can also explore opportunities to “champion” the principles by reaching out to our team.
